The Stefan Frommelt Piano-Trio is on a quest for the inner beauty of all things odd, in which each can discover their own special moments. The pieces play with current trends in odd meters and forms within the classical parameters of melody, harmony, rhythm and sound, providing a framework with lots of space for interaction and improvisation. 'Kind of odd', but still quite all right, life often bestows on us unexpected gifts. Seemingly inappropriate and unnerving experiences may seem shocking, upsetting and dismissive but life is that way sometimes. By accepting this, life enriches us and reveals its full beauty.

In our efforts to even the odd we will often fail until we can see and value the beauty in it. Our music is the expression of these attempts, to stay in the odd until it breaks free and floats and moves by itself.

Drive, energy, enthusiasm, compassion and fun characterize this dynamic and agile the Stefan Frommelt Trio.
